Art Unit: 3727

1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed. The title does not reflect the label panels claimed.
2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5, 12-14, 16, 17, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schoonover et al in view of Cole.

Schoonover et al teach a container which may be molded of plastic and has a sidewall with channels, openings in a top portions at 52 and 42 and a handle in the sidewall at 36, as claimed. Note that the container has flat panel portions so that it may assume different orientations. Such flat portions may function as label panels. Although Schoonover et al don't teach any particular location for labels, Cole teaches a rectangular container and the provision of label panels in the top portion at 36 and the sidewall at 15 so that the labels might be viewed in different orientations. To have merely provided labels in the orientations taught by Cole so that they might be viewed from the top or sidewall would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art. Note the handle on the narrow wall of Schoonover et al. Schoonover et al teach a container size of 1 gallon as well as other sizes depending on the content. Therefore to have merely made the container of a two gallon size would have been most obvious.

3. Claims 1-7, 13-15, 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Soehnlén et al '161 in view of Cole.

Soehnlén et al also teach a rectangular container with a top opening and handle in the sidewall which includes channels, as claimed. Soehnlén et al also teach a 1 gallon capacity for one of the species. Note further the embodiment in figure 28 with at least three channels in the sidewall. To have provided the containers of Soehnlén et al with label panels to receive labels in the top portion and on the narrow side to view from different orientations would have been obvious in view of such teaching by Cole.

4. Claims 8, 9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the references as applied to claim 5 above, and further in view of Boukobza.

To have formed the sidewall channels as "wavy" channels to strengthen the sidewall would have been obvious in view of such teaching by Boukobza in a plastic blow molded container.

5. Claims 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the references as applied to claim 5 above, and further in view of Tabaroni et al.

To have designed the channels as wavy lines which one line extending from the sidewall to the lower base would have been obvious in view of such teaching by Tabaroni et al.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Wysocki et al, Platte, Hari et al, Leibowitz, Young et al, Platte, Sr, Schlueter, Cain et al, McGinnis et al and Mojonier show other containers with handles. Melrose et al show another container with a wavy channel.
